Voltalia awarded "Company of the year" by the Franco-Portuguese Chamber of Commerce and Industry

Voltalia (Euronext Paris, ISIN code: FR0011995588), an international player in renewable energies, was distinguished by the Franco-Portuguese Chamber of Commerce and Industry (CCIFP), the company received the prize of "the company of the year 2019", rewarding its close links with Portugal.

"This award is a recognition of Voltalia's successful journey in Portugal since 2016, the year of the acquisition of Martifer Solar. Thanks to this acquisition and the successes achieved since then, Voltalia is now a recognized player in turnkey construction and maintenance of solar power plants. We serve our clients on four continents, thanks notably to the expertise of the team based in Portugal, which I congratulate and thank" says Sébastien Clerc, CEO of Voltalia.

Voltalia can rely in Portugal on a team of more than 200 people who are active locally and internationally servicing projects both for external clients, and for power plants owned by Voltalia worldwide. The Voltalia Global Solar Hub, located in Portugal, hosts in particular engineering, purchasing, construction, production management, maintenance and equipment distribution specialists, all supported by local teams. Voltalia's global solar training center is also located in Portugal.

Over the past three years, Voltalia Portugal teams have been mobilized to work on power plants located in several countries in Europe, Africa and Latin America, and most recently in Albania, Greece, Egypt and Kenya.

Voltalia is also present in Portugal through its subsidiary Helexia, a recognized player in solar self-production and energy management, established in Portugal since 2016.

The "Company of the Year" prize was awarded at the 12th CCIFP Gala to Yoni Ammar, Director of Asset Sales Investment and Funding of Voltalia, in the presence of Valérie Péresse, President of the Ile de France Region, and Jorge Torres Pereira, Ambassador of Portugal in France.
